Dear Chinnappa,

Every day, I have new reasons to be proud of Accenture and our people—and today, I am delighted to congratulate and celebrate you on your patented invention and recognition by the Accenture Inventor Award Program.

I also want to thank you because it is contributions like yours that truly make a difference in terms of the innovation and value we bring to our clients and each other, and to our shareholders, partners and communities. You are an example of how we all must lead with innovation in everything we do—bringing our best ideas, commitment and collaboration to create lasting value and drive growth. This is how we will achieve shared success.

Congratulations, again. I look forward to more innovations from you and your colleagues as we move forward together as One Accenture.

Best Regards,
